

RECOMMENDATION
to the educational and professional program "Sociology" in specialty 054 Sociology
second (master's) level of higher education

It is well known that Sociology is the science of society, the laws of its functioning and development, all forms of social interaction, processes, and their results.

Therefore, a professional sociologist is a specialist who can solve complex problems in professional and research-innovative activities, which involves a profound rethinking of the existing and the creation of new integral knowledge in Sociology in general, unique sociological theories in particular. The successful assimilation of subjects of the educational course by the students and the effective passing of practical training during educational and qualification practices provide a basis for deepening the professional training of graduates as social personalities who can solve and perform tasks of an innovative nature of activity. The main aim is to develop in-depth theoretical and practical knowledge in social, political, cultural, economic and socio-behavioral spheres.

General information, purpose, characteristics, suitability of graduates for employment and further education, program competencies (integral, general, professional), program learning outcomes, and resource support for implementing the educational and professional program are consistently and clearly presented in the Educational and Professional Program.

Analysis of the structural and logical scheme of the program indicates that it was developed in compliance with the requirements and considers the current sequence of teaching academic disciplines. Staff, material, technical, information, educational and methodological support for the program's implementation fully meets the requirements. It has significant potential for the high-quality performance of the program and training of qualified Masters in Sociology.

The analysis of the proposed program gives reasons to claim that the Educational and Professional Program "Sociology" of the second (Master's) level of higher education fully meets the requirements for the training of highly qualified specialists in the specialty 054 "Sociology".
